Keeping Track

THE INNER EYE OF AN OUTDOOR LIFE
by Ed Gray

Illustrations by Russell Buzzell

Written over the course of 20 years by the founding editor of Gray's Sporting Journal, each of these 70 short pieces was originally meant to stand alone. Taken as a whole, they form a very personal and moving memoir of a thoughtful life spent in the outdoors with his growing family and a few like-minded and unforgettable characters. By the end of this book, they'll all be etched in your mind, too.

Along the way, you'll leave bootprints in salt marshes, share fire rings above the treeline, reach for flies lost in streamside alders, and come away with a set of memories as vivid as if you had lived them yourself.

Here is where he has reproduced it. Come see for yourself.

Praise for Ed Gray

"Ed Gray is sharp on the reasons we hunt and fish...he can crack you up while he's breaking your heart. This is what makes him as good a sporting writer as there is."

—Terry McDonell
Editor, Sports Illustrated
